About VHT

VirtualizationHowto is the result of years of experience from founder and Senior Architect and writer Brandon Lee.

On its pages, VHT provides admins with real-world experience and knowledge gained from many years of experience in the field.

On top of real-world experience Brandon shares his tips and tricks for those learning in self-paced home lab environments.

Vision

Share knowledge and expertise with the rest of the home lab community, provide training and education for tech professionals and help others achieve their best.

Mission

Provide IT knowledge, training, and news for IT professionals managing and administering the latest technologies on-premises and in the cloud.
